A COLUMBUS STATUE.

to be one day visited by a friend from the north, who was acting as agent for one of the cities of central America. The agent asked the young man to assist a statue of Columbus for the market square of the city. The amount of the statue was in excess of the sum which the man had at his disposal. He was about to refuse in despair of being able to raise the sum when the brass founder told him to "Come back in the junk yard and see what I can find there." He went back and the brass founder showed him a colossal statue of Columbus, recently removed from the site of a large breeding establishment for deer. The founder offered to deliver his first rested a beer keg, in exchange for the statue. The founder was a large and overflowing man, and his beard was long and shaggy, and about his brows was wreathed with a mass of curly hair and warts.

"Why, this will never do," said the young man, who was a commission merchant. "I want a statue of Columbus."

Wait until I have touched this . . .
Come back in about a week to see what you think of it. If it suits you, you can have it for the amount I have at your disposal."
As soon as the visitor had gone, the master under set two men at work to make a figure of the man who moved the beer keg from under the right foot and placed there an angel and a coil of rope, from his hand he moved the goblet and substituted barley and hops and substituted wreath of laurel and then proceeded to m up his whiskers. The finished consisted in putting at the bottom of the figure "Don Cristoforo Colombo."
When the commission merchant came was delighted with the figure. Purchasing it, shipped it to the Central American city, where it adorns the public square and is looked upon with veneration by the citizens of that town. The New York Times.

The Earliest Lens.
The earliest known lens is one made of rock crystal, unearthed by Layard at Nineveh, B. C. 700. The age of which is attested by the Assyrian inscriptions. It is a mere pebble, and its use is to be measured by the fact that it is found in the British Museum, its low surface as bright as when it came from the maker's hands. By the side of it is a very recent specimen of lens, which has already been ruined by exposure to the London fogs and smoke.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

We look to the friends of the Ledger to keep up a constant flow of news of public interest, happening in any part of the county. Our regular correspondents will be furnished with writing material and stamps for this purpose. Births, deaths, marriages, accidents, amusements, mining and other industrial progress, social topics, new buildings, persons leaving or coming into the county, are always acceptable. Give details of important items, no matter how rough a shape. Avoid personal remarks that might give offense. Visitors between towns in the county need not be mentioned, but visits from places beyond the county may be recorded.

THE WATER QUESTION.

The rainfall on January 1, as measured by the gauge at the Ledger office, amounted to .58 of an inch, making the total for the season 11.29 inches, against 14.47 for the corresponding period last year. January and February of last year were very wet months. In the first named, 5.61 inches fell, and 9.81 in February, making a total of 15.42 inches for the two months—nearly one-half the total fall of the entire season. The snowfall in the mountains has been very light so far. For 30 miles east of Jackson the mountain crests are bare of snow. This is something unusual at this season, and indicates that the storage of water in the high sierras in the form of snow will be below the average. There is ample time yet for the accumulation of vast snow reserves, but as a rule the fall after January soon disappears with the advent of warm weather. It requires cold freezing weather to pack it solid, so as to last through the summer. However, for practicable purposes in Amador county there is no likelihood of a shortage of water. The storage capacity of the Standard Company is ample for all requirements of mining. There is one contingency that might put a serious phase to the water question in Amador county. When the Standard Electric Company gets into full swing in supplying light and power to cities below, the water used for this purpose is of course lost so far as the mining industry of this county is concerned. Now, in the event of a shortage of water for all purposes, and the necessity of curtailing the supply of water in some direction, the question arises, which is likely to be cut off first, the local or the outside demand. It is not only possible, but highly probable, that the revenue of the Standard company from outside sources will far outweigh the receipts from Amador industries. In this dilemma, from the standpoint of self interest, the power company would naturally desire to continue the business that gives them the largest income. As a rule, it is a sound business principle that the lesser source of revenue must give place to the larger. There are exceptions to every rule, however, and it is a question whether, when we are face to face with this issue, the business interests of Amador county must suffer in order that interests far off, but dependent upon the resources of this county, may be protected and maintained. This point has never been settled by the courts, for the reason that electric energy transmitted to long distances is a newly applied source of power. No doubt laws will have to be passed to meet this new condition. The law is clearly established that the water of a stream cannot be diverted to the injury of riparian owners along the banks thereof. By analogy, it will probably be duly recognized in the course of time that established industries near the source of electric power have the first right to the use of that power.

That Emalie—Mace Road.

Amador county has a suit on hand to force a right of way, on behalf of petitioners Eric Emalie and others, over lands belonging to F. Mace and others in township three. The road leads from the Emalie residence to the Silver Lake public road, and is alleged to be necessary to enable said Emalie to reach all points in Amador county. Emalie is a settler upon public land, and is entitled to an outlet, and it is the duty of the local government to see that he has an available outlet for his products of timber, etc. It is near five years since this matter was first agitated. It is over four years since the petition was first presented to the board of supervisors for their action. F. Mace was the principal non-consenting land owner, the road traversing about 90 acres of his land, and over 100 acres of Miss Ivy Mace's land. The viewers estimated the damage to F. Mace at $150, and Ivy Mace at $10, and $1 each to two other non-consenting owners. Mace refused to accept this award, and the supervisors instructed the district attorney to bring suit in behalf of Amador county to determine the issue. It appears from the record that while the original petition for the opening of this road was filed on Nov. 1, 1897, about eighteen months thereafter, in June 1899, a petition for a review was presented to the board, and upon this the board based its action in appointing viewers and other steps. After a long wait, in the hope that the non-consenting owners would relent and accept the sum awarded them, the case got into court in August last. C. H. Crocker, who as attorney for F. Mace, has contested every point in the proceedings from the start, interposed a demurrer to the complaint, which demurrer was sustained. An amended complaint was filed the latter part of October. This also was attacked by demurrer on the ground of ambiguity and uncertainty, and the demurrer was again sustained. We understand the weak spot in the proceedings is the review petition and the action thereon. It is claimed by the defense that a quasi-judicial body—such as the board of supervisors—cannot review its proceedings. Defects in the original proceedings can only be corrected by commencing anew. If this position is sustained, the defect is jurisdictional and fatal. A third complaint has been filed, and action thereon will be awaited with interest. Should the proceedings be quashed on demurrer, the cost of this prolonged contest will fall upon the county.

THE INCORPORATION MATTER.

The Sutter Creek incorporation question was not brought up before the board of supervisors at its meeting this month. No one appearing in behalf of the petition, the matter was laid over for another month. The law allows the supervisors to defer action for not to exceed two months. According to the interpretation of the law by some, the board has no discretionary powers in the premises, beyond laying it over for a couple of months. Under this construction, even though no appearance is made either for or against the incorporation question, as was the case this week, still the board is compelled to call an election. It matters not what the members of the board may think as to the futility of submitting the question to the voters. A remonstrance signed by three-fourths of the voters within the proposed town limits would be useless. Unless the petition is withdrawn by those whose names are thereon, the board must call an election and put that expense upon the taxpayers of the county generally. If this is the correct interpretation of the law as it now stands, our lawmakers should lose no time in changing the law. A petition for incorporation should be placed on the same footing as a petition for a new road; it should be accompanied by a bond guaranteeing that in the event of the proposition being defeated the cost will be paid by the petitioners. The law should also provide that in case of the incorporation carrying, the election expenses, etc., should be a legal charge against the newly formed municipality. In no event should the expense fall upon the taxpayers of the entire county.

The steamship Walla Walla was rammed on the 2nd instant off the Humboldt coast by the French bark Max, and went to the bottom in a few minutes thereafter. More than fifty of the passengers and crew perished. The disaster was evidently due to gross mismanagement on the part of those in charge of the steamship. At first it was sought to throw the blame upon the unknown bark that sailed away into the night after the fatal collision, without stopping to rescue the drowning. But the Max has put into San Francisco, in a desperately damaged condition, and her officers tell a totally different story. Everything was done by them to avoid a collision, and if the least attention had been given to their signals, the accident with its appalling loss of life would not have occurred. These marine disasters, mixed up with charges of carelessness or incompetence, are too frequent on the Pacific coast. They ought to lead to greater care in the issuance of certificates of seamanship. Practical knowledge of his craft is of little worth on the part of an officer unless it is also associated with traits of character which guarantee that he will be at his post and prepared to do his duty when confronted with danger.

The whole story of the Modoc lynchings is out. The actors in those tragedies are tumbling over themselves in their anxiety to seek cover by furnishing evidence for the state. The confessions reveal a state of facts which prove these lynchings have no parallel in the criminal annals of this state in wanton fendishness. Petty larceny was all that was charged against the parties lynched. A boy of thirteen was done to death without even this miserable excuse. The old man, Calvin Hall—a veteran of the civil war—was strangled on the principle that "dead men tell no tales." But murder is a hard secret to keep. When imprisoned within one human breast it groans for deliverance. There is nothing so craven and suspicious as the spirit of murder. With thirteen included in their midnight masquerade, it was beyond human probability that their infamous crimes could be concealed. It may be that Modoc county is so permeated with sympathy for the lynchers, that these shedders of innocent blood—whose guiltiness is now made as clear as noonday—will escape punishment. One thing is clear, the trials will bankrupt not only the defendants but the county as well. If the outcome be the wiping of the dishonored name of Modoc from the map of California it will be a matter of rejoicing instead of regret.

A Profitable Investment.

"I was troubled for about seven years with my stomach and in bed half my time," says E. Demick, Somerville, Ind. "I spent about $1,000 and never could get anything to help me until I tried Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. I have taken a few bottles and am entirely well." You don't live by what you eat, but by what you digest and assimilate. If your stomach doesn't digest your food you are really starving. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does the stomach's work by digesting the food. You don't have to diet. Eat all you want. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures all stomach troubles. Kerr's Pharmacy, Jackson.

An item is being industriously circulated crediting Tuolumne county with a gold production of $20,000,000 last year. As the yield of the entire state amounted to something less than $16,000,000, there is evidently one cipher too many in Tuolumne's claim. Two million dollars is a flattering showing for this county, and places it probably second in rank in the gold producing counties of the state.

OUR NEIGHBORING TOWNS

The Masquerade Ball at Drytown.

Amador City Folks Celebrate the Incoming of the New Year. Plymouth and Aukum Notes.

DRYTOWN, January 7.—One of the most enjoyable affairs that has occurred in Drytown for several years was the masquerade ball given by Grainger's orchestra on New Year's eve. The ball was uncomfortably crowded, there being seven sets formed on the floor after the grand march, which was headed by Henry Allen of Amador City, a clown, and Miss Ella Blakeley as snowdrop. Twenty dollars was awarded in prizes. The winners being, for best dressed lady, Miss Maggie Boe, who represented a native daughter, $5; best dressed gentleman, J. Garibaldi, a swell con, $5; best sustained lady character, Mrs. Della Giannini, a beggar woman, $2.50; best sustained gentleman character, O. Wrigglesworth, Uncle Sam, $2.50; for the best group the prize of $5 was awarded to F. B. Le Moine and his daughter Ethel, who represented Mrs. Wm. Dugan and her brother, late of Italy. All the costumes were homemade, and among them it was very hard to decide by the judges who was the best dressed lady and gent. The writer is unable to furnish you with a full list of the maskers. At midnight the boys made themselves promiscuous about the two church bells and the school bell, and kept them ringing for fully an hour while the hungry dancers were partaking of a splendid chicken and ravioli supper at Giannini's hotel. Over one hundred persons were served, and all seemed to enjoy it.

A farewell party was given in the hall last Saturday evening in honor of Miss Maggie Boe, who left on Monday morning for San Francisco, where she intends to study shorthand and typewriting.

Word was received from Lodi on New Year's night that Geo. W. Le Moine, the hotel man, was a grandpa. His daughter, Mrs. Addie Beckman, having presented them with a New Year daughter. I suppose grandpa and grandma must feel much older now.

Supervisor F. B. Le Moine has been confined to his bed since Saturday morning, and unable to attend the supervisors' meeting on Monday. He is out of bed at this writing, but still confined to the house. He had an attack of lagrippe, and threatened with pneumonia.

Nellie and Tullio Giannini, who were home from San Francisco to spend the holidays with their parents and friends, returned to the city on Monday.

Mrs. Bicknell and sons, who have been at Volcano during the summer, the boys having been in the employ of the canal company, returned home yesterday.

Mrs. Reeves came back Sunday, after spending a few weeks with her sister, Mrs. Hurst, at Bakersfield.

Mr. Phipps went to Stockton Sunday morning and returned Tuesday eve, bringing with him a bride, formerly Miss Maude Kemp. Both are very well known and highly respected by all who know them.

Several of Amador's young folks watched the new year in at the home of Miss Madge Hinkson. The evening was spent in games, music, etc., until twelve o'clock, when the party adjourned to the church and welcomed "1902" by vigorously ringing the bell. The bell turned over and stopped further racket by that means. All returned to Miss Hinkson's and partook of a daintily served supper, after which all wished each other a "happy new year," and said "good night." The party consisted of Misses Maemo Doman, of Plymouth, Cora Wrigglesworth, Mayme Thomas, Glendora Burns, Myrtle Burns, Hattie Lucy, Madge and Minnie Hinkson, Laura C. Taylor, Florence Taylor, and Messrs. Will Richards, Will Verran, Alfred Oldegarde, Will Taylor, Joe Beard, Bert Raby, Arthur Palmer and Ed Hinkson.

PLYMOUTH.

PLYMOUTH, January 8.—Our quiet town was somewhat livened up New Year's eve by the brass band, which serenaded the town, rendering some of their most select selections, followed by the tin can band, horns, bells, and numerous other noisy instruments.

Mrs. W. Wilcox, who has been here visiting her sister, Mrs. J. Phillips, went to Sacramento last Saturday, where her husband is sick.

Mrs. Geo. Penter and son, who have been staying with the former's mother, left to-day to reside for some time at the Penter ranch, which is situated on the Cosumnes river.

Julia Ginocchio, Oda Ginocchio and Alma Francis went to Stockton Monday with the intention of attending the convent school there. B. C. O'Neill has purchased for the Del Monte Mining Company the air compressor of the Amador Gold Mine that was used in the operations of the English company on the Amador Queen mine. It will be moved to the mine in Calaveras county as soon as possible. It is thought that the foundation for it can be built and the machinery set in place in the course of a month. The machinery weighs about 9 tons. It will materially assist in the 800 feet of tunneling to be done on the property.

Charles E. Smith, a former resident of Amador county, died at his home near Woodbridge on Sunday last. Deceased in early days was engaged in mining in the vicinity of Scottsville, this county. He was related by marriage to C. M. Meek, his first wife, who died some years ago, was a sister of Mrs. Meek and Mrs. G. W. Horn, of this county. A few months ago he married Mrs. P. Heming, also a former resident of this county, who lived for many years on Stony creek. Deceased had been ailing for some time, and death was not unexpected.

Tuesday, the seventh, was celebrated by the Slavonians around Jackson as the Greek church new year. A lot of powder was exploded early in the morning at the Austrian camp, midway between Jackson and the Gate. Many of the residents were at a loss to know what the succession of loud reports meant. It was generally understood that the 6th of January is the new year of this church, but it was not so generally understood that on the first of every century the new year comes on the seventh, instead of the 6th of January, of our calendar. This is the explanation of the matter.

25 doz. turkey red handkerchiefs; 10c article; large size; clearance price 4c; at the White House.

Fred McCutchen has returned to Jackson after several weeks' absence and is again with his brother at the Jackson Shoe Store.

Senator John F. Davis has returned from his trip to Pennsylvania, reaching San Francisco Saturday evening. He is still in the city. When he will return home is uncertain, as he may have to go to Trinity county on business connected with the Sweepstake mine before he returns to Jackson.

Mr. Nourse, the well known representative of the Pioneer Flour Mills, is making his quarterly tour of Amador county in the interest of that popular brand of flour. In addition to having a superior grade of flour, the firm is thoroughly up-to-date in its business methods, persistently letting the public know of the superior character of its product.

The professional card of Dr. Ida E. Mushott will be found in another column. This lady practitioner, who is well known throughout Amador county by years of successful practice, has located in Vallejo, and is well pleased with the place and her practice there. The climate agrees with her. She will be glad to see friends from this county on business or otherwise.

Barney O'Neil, superintendent of the Del Monte mine in Calaveras county, was in Jackson Saturday. He reports everything moving along satisfactorily at the mine. The tunnel is being pushed ahead, slowly, of course, with hand drilling. Arrangements are being made for the introduction of power drills, which will enable the long prospect tunnel to be pushed to completion in a few months.

W. L. Fortner returned home Saturday evening from Calaveras county. He was over the border doing assessment work on a mining claim in which he holds a one-third interest. The mine is within two miles of the famed Sheep Ranch mine, which is said to be now looking as well as at any time in its history. A barren boulder ledge has been crosscutted, and a four-foot ledge of fine milling ore revealed, which is estimated to go in the neighborhood of $30 per ton. Fortner's claim is located on the Sheep Ranch ledge. He and his partners, however, are without the means to develop it, and all they can do is to keep up assessment work, and wait for an opportunity to dispose of it.

That Garbarini Bros. got away with the bridge contract this week was a matter of much satisfaction to many, and of keen disappointment to a few interested ones. Their bid was put in just as the clock struck one—the hour for closing bids. Objection was made by one of the high bidders—who could not hope to secure the contract even if were thrown out—that it was not filed within the prescribed time. This move created the impression that a combination had been formed. The protest was overruled, and Garbarini Bros got the contract at $1700—$95 below C. W. Swain, the next lowest bidder, who furnished the plans and specifications, and who for that reason is entitled to a commission from the county on the contract price.

Frank Pierce President.

W. Frank Pierce of this city has been made president of the Standard Electric Company, succeeding Prince Poniatowski, who has resigned and goes east, preferring not to be encumbered with the burdensome duties that go with the office of the executive head of the Blue Lakes corporation. Mr. Pierce, because of his intimate knowledge of the affairs of the company and his having during recent months assumed most of the active managerial functions, is more than qualified to undertake the work of his new position. This work will probably involve the handling of extensive contracts, as the company is shortly to begin its delivery of power from the immense plant located in Amador county.—Oakland Enquirer.

MINING NEWS.

CENTRAL EUREKA.—Says the Mining and Engineering Journal: A body of ore 13 feet wide and averaging a mill value of nearly $10 per ton has been encountered. This ore body has been cut on both the 1500 and 1800 foot levels, ensuring its value.

AMADOR-PHOENIX.—The ledge was cut at the 100 foot station the latter part of last week. It varies in size from six inches at the top of the station, to 2 feet 6 inches at the bottom. It also varies considerably as regards its gold-bearing qualities. Some of it seems to be heavily charged with the precious metal, and would assay as high as $50 per ton; at other points its value barely reaches the pay standard. Owing to this widely divergent character of the ore, nothing can be told definitely until an actual mill test is made. The prospects, however, are considered very encouraging. The mill will not be started on the ledge for some days yet. They were not through with excavating the station in the early part of the week. Thereafter it is the intention to drift on the vein in both directions, and thereby ascertain the extent of the ore shoot and its gold-bearing qualities.

BAY STATE.—J. J. Ekels informs the Ledger that this mine has started work again after a year's idleness. Mr. Brendt is in charge of the work. The mine has been kept free from water right along, with George Kretcher as engineer. After a few days of cleaning up, underground development was commenced Saturday, with two shifts. It is the intention to crosscut from 800 to 1000 feet to the east.

KIRKWOOD.—At this mine sinking is progressing, with the object of going 200 feet deeper before again tapping the ledge. This will carry the shaft to a depth of 900 feet. At the 700 level the ore body is large, but it carries insufficient mineral to pay. Some stockholders are of the opinion that the main ledge lies further west, and are anxious to have this point decided from the present 700 foot level before going to the expense of sinking the additional 200 feet. The fact that the ledge is comparatively barren at this depth, it is argued, should not discourage the stockholders. The great Kennedy mine was unproductive at the same depth. Not until 900 feet was passed did the owners begin to reap a reward. The Kirkwood will do considerable more prospecting yet before any idea of abandonment is entertained. There is enough money in the treasury at present to tide over another month or two of active work.

Arm Amputated.
Frank Molovich, who was shot through the right hand by the accidental discharge of his gun while out hunting about a month ago, has been compelled to have the arm amputated above the elbow in order to save his life. Dr. Gall attended him after the accident, and amputated the two middle fingers of the injured hand. The patient was getting along nicely, but became despondent because of his disability. He threatened suicide, and refused to heed the advice of his surgeon in regard to avoiding exposure. The result was he took cold, and the case was aggravated thereby. Seeing that he was so self-willed, he was advised to go to a San Francisco hospital for treatment. Last week he went to St. Mary's hospital. He was there told that the symptoms of blood poisoning rendered it imperative that his arm be amputated between the wrist and elbow. At first he refused to submit, and Jos. Simich, a relative, received a dispatch early this week that he could live but a few days unless amputation was resorted to. On Wednesday he was informed by telegram that the arm had been taken off above the elbow, and it was hoped that no further complications would arise.
